The Great Football Contest of the Year to Be Fought on Manhattan Field-U. of P. and Harvard.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.-There is the most supreme confidence to-night among all the sons of Ell that the Tigers will be laid low by Captain Murphy's sleven on Manhattan Field to-morrow, and the element of doubt has not been able to get even an entering wedge. Just before the eleven started for New York Dr. "Josh" Hartwell, the veteran coach, who has hitherto maintained a sphynxlike silence, expressed himself as very hopeful of winning, but he added: "When two teams come together which are so evenly matched as Yale and Princeton, it is difficult to predict the outcome. It depends to a great extent on wind and weather, water and luck, It is a question on which much depends whether the right play is started at the right time and carried through at the right time." To the question, "Is the Yale team a Yale team-by this, is it equal to the famous Yale elevens which have represented Yale heretofore?" he said; "It is a Yale team, and you can rest assured that the eleven which will face Princeton to-morrow is in every sense a Yale team, and will give the sons of Eli no occasion to blush or shatter any of their ideals."

The Yale team went out to the field for the last time early in the afternoon. They did not line up, but simply went through the signals and practiced the formation plays which they expect to use against Princeton. The eleven, with the substitutes, trainers and coachers, left later in the afternoon for New York, traveling in a special car. Their departure was the occasion of a grand ovation. Captain Murphy and every member of the eleven was individually given the famous long cheer, while the mention of "Josh" Hartweli's name brought forth a perfect whiriwind of cheers. The players were escorted from the New Haven House to the train by over 1,000 students, who enlivened the route by singing several unique college songs, especially written for to-morrow's game. There of any religion in the world.' Therefore Covert, of Purdue University, for this purgeneral feeling here to-night that the Yale eleven of 96 will prove to be one of the star teams in Yale's football annals. The situation can be summarized that the students are confident of victory. The coachers are not saying a word, but smile reassuringly, and the members of the team will be completely nonplussed at a Prince-

The substitutes will be: Thomp-son, Hayward and Lathrop, ends; Tyler and Booth, tackles; Edwards, guard; Poe and Pardee, quarter backs; Reiter, Ayres and Rosengarten, half backs. Wheeler will be substitute half and full back and has been trained to take either place. In case Gailey should be injured. Tyler will go to Special attention was paid to signal practice, to perfecting team play, and interference and punting. The Betting Last Night.

YORK. Nov. 20 .- The football of Yale and Princeton arrived in town to-night and proceeded without much ado to their respective hotels. The Imperial Hotel appeared to be the chief betting center for the football contingents of both sides. Early in the evening 10 to 7 but as the Yale men continued to arrive there was a falling off, and even money was the ruling figure. The principal bet of the evening at the Imperial was made by John Graham, a cotton broker, of the class of '86, Princeton, of $500 even with a Mr. Johnson. Dr. Baldwin, of Princeton, '91, bet $50 to $250 that Yale would not score. There was also some betting at the Murray Hill Hotel. Several bets in small sums of 50 to 35 on Princeton were made. Sums of 50 to 35 on Princeton were made.

E. B. Talcott, former president of the New York baseball club, was on hand and bet $100 to $75 on Princeton. He found no difficulty in placing bets at this figure, and he also placed several at 100 to 70 on Princeton. One bet he made was 100 to 80 on Princeton. He made this bet ten times. He also bet 40 to 100 that Yale would not score.

Both sides are confident of a great game. Both sides are confident of a great game.

HARVARD AND U. OF P.

Both Teams at Philadelphia Ready for To-Day's Contest.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.-The Pennsylvania football squad and coachers arrived home from the Delaware Water Gap at 6 o'clock to-night. The boys were given a hearty welcome by the enthusiastic students. There was but little handshaking, however, coach Woodruff and Captain Wharton hustling the men off to the training house, where after a light dinner they dressed for the reception given in Houston Hall in honor of the Harvard team, The reception was attended by about five hundred college football enthusiasts. The musical clubs of the University of Pennsylvania contributed instrumental and vocal music, and during the supper, which was served in the large auditorium. Judge Mc-Michael, of the Harvard alumni, Judge Willson, president of the Philadelpala Yaie alumni association, and Samuel D. Huey, president of the Princeton local alumni association, made short speeches, acknowledging the hospitality of Pennsylvania, and expressive of the hope that friendly rivalry between the colleges would grow. The crimson eleven spent nearly two hours on Franklin field this afternoon in light practice and familiarizing themselves with the grounds. Nearly all of the big business houses are profusely decorated with the red and blue of Pennsylvania and erimson of Harvard. The day probably will be clear and crisp. The Pennsylvania eleven will line up for to-morrow's battle the same as in the game with the Carlisle Indian School: Boyle, left Uffendelmer, left tackle; Woodruff, guard; Overfield, center: Wharton, right guard; Farrar, right tackle; B. Dickson, right end; Weeks, quarter back: Gil-

tured last evening at Plymouth Church of the "Signs of the Times." The west, he said, has made great progress in the material world, while the Orient has made just as wonderful progress in things spiritnal. But the western mind has reached the border land of physical science, and the attainment of the superphysical and metaphysical is desired. He said the east is beginning to revolutionize the whole course of thought and the whole mental life of the west, and it will go on doing so until it is shown definitely and clearly that there is just as definite and positive a way to knowledge of the superphysical and transcendental things of the universe as there is to material and visible things. India has investigated and ascertained definitely and scientifically the problems of life and death. It is her mission to educate the western thinkers who can never be satisfied with mere belief, with mere hearsay, that there is a future life, that man lives after death, that man has possibilities in his mind of knowing everything there is to know in the world, that a man can reach that goal of humanity where he can say he is one with God. These are truths which can be verified and with regard to which things, said he. "And in this mission the Hindoo does not go about telling people their religion is Training School. This resolution authorwrong and theirs is true," he continued. opposed to that. A sage of India was once asked what is the best religion. He said, not more than $1,000 a year. Superintendent The best religion for all humanity is to think of God always and never to speak evit method of knowing truth at first hand the method of verifying the truth about the hereafter, the truth about the beginning and the end of things, she doesn't mean to wound your feelings, but she will show you the way through the very faith you have and the religion you have had for ages. Our mission is not to make converts and to swell the number of those who believe in one or the other of the In-dian sects. It is to help people to be right-eous, honest, truth-seeking, self-reliant men in every sense of the word, and it doesn't tion through the teachings of Christ or that of Buddha; it doesn't matter who is the is that people shall be religious in every sense of the word and should know truth The west has never tried to understand what made Jesus Christ what He was; they have tried no doubt to follow Him, to imitate Him, but they have never tried to understand what was the mystery, what was the secret that produced that great life. If you want to be true Christians, if want to be worthy followers of Jesus it is your supreme duty to know definitely what steps Christ took before he became Christ. It is to show you the full glory of Christ in the light of the rising sun of the Orient and not in the setting sun of the west that the Brahmin comes among you. Did not Christ ask you to be perfect even as your Father in heaven? Did He not tell you to know truth and that truth shall make you free? What does it mean? Does it mean mere book reading? Mere reading of the Bible? No, it does not mean that. It means knowing truth at first hand as Christ did himself. No more is there time to waste in the development of physical and visible things, in the gratification of the We have in northern India teachers who have perfected themselves and who are just as high and exalted as Christ was and as many other teachers were. That is have a balance left at the end of the year. the privilege of the Hindoo, who knows exactly what happens when a man departs this life, exactly when he is to be born again, exactly what will be the conditions of his life and what are the causes that determine his life. It is possible for you to know these things. Will you sleep in ignorance? Ignorance is indeed the cause of all evils, the cause of all sins, the cause of all sorrows, the cause of all suffering. for it is through ignorance that we are selfish and it is through selfishness again that we are sinners. Dispel this ignorance. Know truth and the truth shall make you free, as Christ said. And in order to do that follow the teachings and the guiding of the East, which will also enable you to imitate your own Christ Brahmincharya will lecture at Plymouth Church this evening on the subject "Hindoo Life and the Search for Truth" and Sun-day night on the subject "Christ in the Hindeo Light."

THE RATHBONE SISTERS.

Reported that President Fecheimer Was to Depose Officers.

There is trouble of some kind brewing

among the officers of the Rathbone Sisters. the woman's branch of the Knights of Pythias. Last night reports were received that there had been a general upheaval and that the president, Mrs. Fecheimer, of Terre Haute, had taken it upon herself to depose the other officers and had appointed and installed new officers. The trouble is reported to have originated over some financial views held by the president contrary to the views of the other officers. The meager information is not sufficiently clear to indicate whether is was on the question of borrowing money for the use of the order or of lending some of the money be longing to the order, but it is believed to Mrs. Mabel Teague, of No. 86 North Senate avenue, is the grand mistress of records and correspondence. She was seen last night and asked about the trouble that had come up. She was very busily engaged, in company with two other women of the order at her home, doing some writing. She was asked if it were true that Mrs.

Fecheimer had deposed the oilicers and installed others. That information is somewhat premature." she said. "Nothing of the kind has been done yet," with emphasis on "yet." Further than this she would say almost othing. She would answer no questions, but finally she admitted that there had been some trouble over financial matters. She said that was a matter for the trustees to look after and not for the officers, in her conversation she left the impression that something was expected to happen soon but that no steps had been taken yet to depose any officers or to cause an in-

WILLIAM M. BLAKE DEAD

Was Born in the Old Homestead in This City Sixty-Four Years Ago. William M. Blake, aged sixty-four years, dled Thursday night at the home of his son, James Blake, at No. 737 North Senate

Mr. Blake had been a resident of this city all his life, with the exception of a short time spent in Washington during the war. He was the oldest son of the late James Blake, one of the early pioneers of the country. He was born in the old Blake homestead, which has recently been removed from the corner of Capitol avenue and North street. He was employed in the postoffice under Postmasters Holloway and Wildman, but since that time has done nothing on account of frequent attacks of asthma and increasing flesh. Until it became burdensome for him to get about he was active in Republican politics, but never sought an office. His death came as a result of fatty degeneration of the heart and asthma. A short time ago he was stricken with paralysis of the brain, which soon resulted in death. He was a member of the Tabernacle Church. Mr. Blake leaves a widow and four children-Mrs. John Kurtz, Mrs. Edwin Francis and James Blake, of this city, and Mrs. O. Hugh, of Anderson. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the home of James Blake. Death of A. V. Morgan.

A. V. Morgan, aged fifty-two, living at 187 West Fifth street, died about 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning from a stroke of apoplexy. For the last few years he had been a sufferer from severe headaches, which undermined his health. He was a coal merchant and had a yard on Lafayette street. He was an Odd Fellow. The funeral will take place from Hall-place Church | Box 104. Sunday afternoon.
